10. PLANNING AREA 10

a. Descriptive Summary

This area is the largest contiguous residential area within the Townsite and contained the majority of single family homes with accompanying streets, sidewalks, and utilities, for a population of 3,500 mine workers and their families. Because this area is fully developed the land use and street patterns are firmly established and cannot be significantly altered. Planning Area 10 currently contains 316 existing and 7 partially constructed dwelling units as well as 12 existing residential pad-foundations capable of accommodating similar new or relocated single family dwellings. Each residential site contains sufficient area to accommodate two tandem offstreet parking spaces. The planned utilization of all existing buildings and foundations will result in a total of 335 single family dwellings within Planning Area 10. Pocket parks are planned throughout this residential area to provide a setting for informal community gatherings. Connections to the proposed trail system bordering the south boundary of the planning area are also envisioned. Street trees will be introduced along residential streets to soften the urban environment and provide shade during the hot summer months.
